

Literacy Pittsburgh is an important part of the region’s workforce development system. We help thousands of adults each year improve their math, writing, reading, and English language skills, enabling them to attain high school graduation credentials, enroll in college or trade school and get a job that pays a family sustaining wage.

LEVERAGE OUR EXPERTISE FOR YOUR SUCCESS

FOR COLLEGES AND JOB TRAINING PROGRAMS

Our qualified instructors provide basic skills education in math, reading, writing or digital literacy to prepare students for career-specific coursework.

Recognizing a skills gap among its students, Community Kitchen engaged Literacy Pittsburgh to provide a skills assessment and reading, math and job readiness instruction for students enrolled in culinary arts training.

FOR EMPLOYERS AND WORKFORCE PROGRAMS

Tailored reading, math and English language courses specific to industries such as manufacturing, health care, hospitality, construction and more can be offered at your site or ours.

Westin Convention Center Hotel housekeeping staff strengthened their English communication skills through guest-centered vocabulary and scenarios. These employees had better retention, productivity and job satisfaction.

FOR JOB SEEKERS

Earn a high school credential, gain math, reading, writing, digital literacy and/or English language skills to advance your career. Explore career options and plan your future with us. Our program is free to you.

With Literacy Pittsburgh’s help, Karmel earned her high school equivalency diploma after just ten months of study. Today, Karmel is a 4.0 student at community college.
